

NEW THEATRE UNDER LOCAL MANAGEMENT

Amalgamation of Portsmouth Theatre and New Vaughan Street Play House Will Insure Increased Benefits and Better Attractions for Playgoers.

Portsmouth enjoys the privilege of witnessing first class road companies, but for several years the regular policy of pictures and vaudeville has resulted in crowding out many available one-night legitimate attractions, and to play these one-night stand attractions has interfered with the plan and regular program of pictures and vaudeville.

In the interest of providing to care for both lines of amusement, and with the desire to retain the local theatres under local management, Mr. John H. Bartlett, the owner of the New

Vaughan Street Theatre and the owners of the Portsmouth Theatre today arranged an amalgamation, which will mean a more varied program and many never before shown attractions. This means that these properties will be handled and managed by men that are thoroughly interested in the prosperity and upbuilding of Portsmouth, rather than either one should be handled and managed by outsiders, who have no personal interests for the welfare of the community. These theatres will be under the personal direction of Mr. R. W. Hartford, who for many years has thoroughly studied the amusement business.

Each theatre will have its own staff and its own individual program, with the desire to afford the amusement loving public with everything new in the amusement line, and at the smallest possible price, which has made this class of amusement so popular in this city, and has resulted in Portsmouth gaining the reputation throughout New England of giving the best and biggest show for the money of any place in the country.

Portsmouth has long felt the need of a suitable auditorium available to the public for all kinds of public assemblies, entertainments and services. It was to meet this need that John H. Bartlett purchased the property on Vaughan street and has now well under construction a building for such purposes. In order to make it a success it was necessary that it should be equipped in every way as a theatre, and that it should, in addition to meeting the demand for a place of public assemblies, be run as a first-class theatre and moving picture house. It was not the plan of Mr. Bartlett to make it in opposition to any then existing place of amusement in Portsmouth, but rather that it might afford an opportunity which the others did not afford.

Music Hall has a well-earned reputation for giving Portsmouth citizens excellent entertainment as a first-class theatre, but in numerous instances its bookings for theatre purposes have made it impossible for the public to have a proper place for assemblies of local interest. The tastes of the public are divided in the nature of the theatre demanded. It is very desirable that such different demands should be met. For these reasons it has seemed desirable and proper and in accordance with the public demand to consolidate the properties of the Portsmouth Theatre Company, or Music Hall, and Mr. Bartlett's new theatre on Vaughan street.

Music Hall will shortly be renewed

WORLD'S CHAMPIONS

BOSTON BRAVES
CHAMPIONS OF
THE WORLD

Take Four Straight Games From Athletics and Create New World's Record--Last Game
Finely Played and Witnessed by 35,000 People.

The Boston Braves created a new world's record on Tuesday when they made it four straight from the Philadelphia Athletics, making a clean sweep of the series for the first time since the world's series has been played. It was a wonderful climax for a team, which, for several weeks held the cellar position in the National League, and then came up to winning the pennant, and crowning it all, by taking the world's championship.

It is a record which will probably never be equaled for many years at least if ever. It has also been a demonstration of the honesty of professional base ball in the two major leagues, for there has always been an impression that the final number of games were ordered by the clubs for the big money it would bring. To be sure the base ball players themselves share only in the first four games no matter how many more are played, but the extra games mean thousands to the clubs, so that the four straight victories of the Braves has put a stop to this line of talk. It would have been an extremely easy matter Monday to have made the twelve inning game a tie so that it would have to be played over again, but the Braves never let up and fought to the end for the win which they secured.

They are a great team and the men who took the short end of the betting are quite sure of this by several thousand dollars. Starting with the odds as high as 10 to 4 against them, they came to even money and became the favorites in the odds of 9 to 7, before the last game.

The final game Tuesday was a repetition of the three preceding games, when the Boston pitchers showed their superiority and kept Connie Mack's aggregation of sluggers guessing, at the same time hitting in a timely fashion themselves.

Hank Gowdy is the hero of the series and his batting average is by far the highest ever made by any player in a world's series.

The game Tuesday was witnessed by 35,000 people, and every available seat was taken, but there was no such a crowd outside of the grounds as on Monday. The weather was much cooler but still good base ball temperature.

Connie Mack, who was expected to pitch one of his veterans, started one of his younger staff, Shawkey, and he pitched good ball, other than being a little wild he was relieved in the sixth by Penneck.

Stallings pinned his faith on Dick Rudolph and for the second time in the series he delivered the goods. While not such a hair-raising contest as Monday, it was a fast and clean game, with the Braves playing the better ball.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are the successful substitute for calomel—there's never any sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever coerced with "a dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or simply face.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil, you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result.

Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. The end 25c per box. All druggists.

Bill Trueman and Barney Loughlin are matched.

One of the sporting events to take place at the West End later is attracting more attention than anything in that section for many days.

It is the bowling match between Bill Trueman and Barney Loughlin, two athletes who are going to show the natives they can come back. They are both waiting every spare moment and the boys are waiting for the big night at the Creek alleys.

Trueman is one of the crew of the handball curica that has helped to add history to the Franklin Pierce Association and the vets are behind him to a man.

Loughlin has never quit in anything in the sporting line and he is out, not only to trim his opponent, but to establish a record on the alleys that will make all the fast bowlers including John Knight and George Dantley take to the tail finch.

It will be the sporting event of a quarter of a century and more than one of the admirers of Barney and Bill will go broke on the result.

DAILY SPORT LETTER

It cost Jim Gaffney less than $75,000 to assemble his ball team. He could get about $200,000 for the outfit if he placed it on the market today.

And included in that $25,000 is an item of $25,000 that he paid to Johnny Evers, so that it will be seen that he got his other 24 players for $20,000, an average of about $2000 each.

Big Bill James, the star pitcher of the Braves came to them from Seattle. He cost owner Jim a few thousand dollars. If Gaffney wanted to market his 22 year old pitcher today he could probably get $2,000 for him.

Dick Rudolph cost Gaffney but very little. He cost Gaffney wouldn't have much better getting $10,000 to $15,000 for him.

Schmidt, the huge first sacker of the Braves, went to the Braves from the International League. He had a great fielding record there, but was not figured as much of a hitter. Gaffney got him for a trifling sum. Gaffney could get about four times the old price now.

Marranville, regarded by many as the best shortstop in the old league, came from New Bedford, Mass., in the New England League. The selling price of Marranville wasn't one-sixth of the price that Gaffney could get for him today.

Connolly, the slugging outfielder of the Braves, came at a bargain price. So did Cather Whaling, who hailed from the Northwestern league. Gowdy, the best young catcher in the National League cost but a few thousand.

Mann, the fast center fielder of the Braves, was one of the few players who cost real money. His purchase price was about $5,000. John Devore was purchased for a few thousand.

Red Smith, whose third basing has been a great help to the Braves, was purchased from Brooklyn at a reported price of $15,000. Herbert Moran, the outfielder, who came from Cincinnati, is said to have cost the Braves about $25,000.

Davis, the young spitting pitcher that Manager Stallings took as a coming wonder, was purchased for a sum as were several other of the Braves recruits. Otto Hess, the oldest member of the team cost but little.

Whitted and Cather went to Boston via the trade route, being a merchandise for Hub Perdue, the pitcher.

George Tyler, the southpaw mainstay of the Braves, went to the Braves several years ago from the minors. The price paid for him was about $25,000.

Connie Mack who assembled a championship team with an outlay of around $25,000 and Gaffney who turned the trick with a $50,000 expenditure, exclusive of the $25,000 that he gave to Evers as a bonus, are not the only instances of cheap ball teams winning pennants. This happening has come to be the rule instead of the exception. The Cubs didn't cost their owners much money. Most of the players were brought from the busks, without any big outlay of money, and developed while with the Cubs.

The Detroit Tigers won three pennants, and not one of the men cost the owners much over $2,000. Ty Cobb cost $700, and the fellow who sold him thought he was skinning the Detroit folks when he turned the trick. The Pirates weren't a very expensive outfit.

The Giants probably cost more money than any other team that has won the pennant during the last six or eight years. Marquard cost $11,000. That was the biggest price paid for any player, but many other Giants cost sums ranging between $3,000 and $7,000.

It didn't cost the owners of the Boston Red Sox very much money to assemble through draft or purchase from the smaller leagues at a slight cost. And so the moral in this yarn seems to be:

"If you want a pennant winner, get a lot of cheap priced ball players."

THIS MAN IS BADLY WANTED

Beach, International Crook,
Has Fourteen Aliases.

From the reading of the $100 reward offered by the state, through the Sherrin Detective Agency of Boston, for Edgar J. Beach, the international crook sentenced from this city for the wholesale jewelry robbery at the Shadobaker residence Little Boar's Head, it appears that he was not without sufficient names in his thieving career, dating back to 1908. His was known under fourteen aliases as the following will show:

Edgar J. Beach alias Robert Gunning; alias Robert Dunning; alias Edward Latina; alias Edgar Latina; alias Edgar Bell; alias Arthur Lane; alias James C. Wood; alias William Thomas; alias Henry Beach; alias Edgar B. Beach; alias Frederick L. Elton; alias Arthur Lawton; alias Henry Redfern; alias Arthur Henry Flux.

Wanted in Concord, N. H., where he escaped August 10, 1914, from the State Hospital, to which he was confined by shamming insanity after receiving a sentence of five years for larceny; speaks with a decided Cockney accent, and uses many English phrases; is very clever and was formerly an actor. Was sentenced at Homestead prison, Penn., for two years in 1913, but escaped, and Durham prison, England, for eighteen months in 1908. His occupation is that of a cook and butler, but usually plies his trade as a burglar, safe robber and porch climber; his hobby be-

FOOD SOURING IN STOMACH CAUSES INDIGESTION, GAS

"Pape's Diapepsin" ends all stomach distress in five minutes.

Wonder what upset your stomach—what portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate indigestible food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women to-day know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

SCORED A HIT.

Commenting on Miss Edith Thayer, who appears at the Portsmouth Theatre on Wednesday evening in the Firefly, the city editor of the Bangor News has the following to say:

"Before a brilliant audience that filled Edith Theatre to its capacity to-night Edith Thayer, the dainty and diminutive prima donna soprano, made an instant and decided hit as Nina, the central character in the Hammerstein comic opera, Firefly. Those who went to be pleasantly entertained were more than satisfied with the performance in general, but more than that they were fairly electrified at hearing a grand opera voice in the midst of light opera gayeties. Miss Thayer is nothing less than a vocal phenomenon and those who went to the theatre expecting to hear an ordinary singer of light compositions were astonished at hearing a soprano recalling the flute-like tones of Nellie Melba, and of volume equal to a far greater space than that of the ordinary theatre. Visually a delight and a surprise Miss Thayer also is endowed with real comedy gifts. She made sure by tonight's performance of a warm welcome in Bangor should she ever return."

MARILLA IS VERY EXPRESSIVE

Mrs. Marilla Ricker, New Hampshire's famous woman lawyer has followed the example recently set by Hon. William B. Chandler and burst forth in poetry touching political affairs. Mrs. Ricker's effort was made at the 49th annual reunion of the Twelfth New Hampshire Volunteers Association at Alton a few days ago, where she spoke at the "camp-fire," and in the course of her patriotic remarks turned in this Free Will Baptist hymn:

The song birds are the sweetest in New Hampshire,
The flocks and kine the neatest in New Hampshire,
The mountains tower proudest,
The thunder peals loudest,
The scenery is the grandest,
And politics the damndest, in New Hampshire.

MR. MORRISON IS CRITICIZED

On His Address Before Teachers' Association.

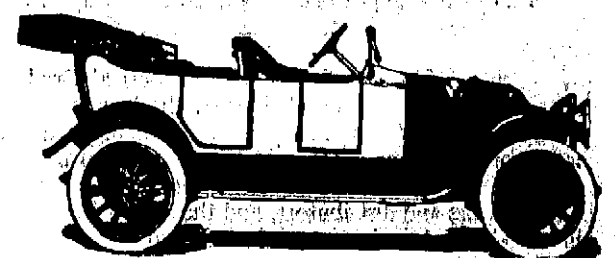

In the address of Henry C. Morrison State Superintendent of Education made some time ago at a meeting of the Merrimack Valley Teachers' Association at Manchester on the College situation in New England and the need of a state university in New Hampshire an attack was made on the New England College entrance certificate board, which in the opinion of its officers called for a reply.

Their reply is in the nature of a four page printed pamphlet which is printed as much of the address as referred to the board, together with comment and criticism.

In conclusion the report says: By way of summary, it is respectfully submitted that Mr. Morrison has unintentionally misrepresented the board in the following particulars:

1. In applying the phrase "An educational trust" to the board which has none of the characteristics of a trust—desire for gain, conspiracy, monopoly, illegality.
2. In charging against it a dominance in New England educational affairs, which is not aimed at, and indeed is impossible so long as there are certificate colleges outside the board, and especially in view of the unimpaired predominance of Harvard, Yale and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.
3. In stating that the board had compelled colleges to come within its membership.
4. In the preposterous statement that two or three per cent of failures result in the loss of the certificate privilege.
5. In giving an incorrect statement of the facts on which the action of the board was based in the case of the school, and in omitting all mention of the warnings sent to the principal.
6. In implying that no new courses of study may be introduced in an approved school without the consent of the board, which as a matter of fact never even gives advice on such a point.
7. In holding the board responsible for the requirements for admission to the several colleges, when as a matter of fact, they are concerned merely with the reliability of certificates.

The Great Efficiency Car

(Engine and vehicle patented July 2, 1903)
FRANKLIN SIX-THIRTY FIVE-PASSENGER TOURING CAR,
$2100, 2750 payable, 4 1/2 in. tires.

VINCENT ASTOR BUYS ANOTHER FRANKLIN

This makes seven Franklins that Vincent Astor and his father, the late Colonel John Jacob Astor, have owned. In placing his order for this last car, Vincent Astor stated that the last Franklin he has been driving he has driven twice as much as any other car that he has owned. He has gotten an average of ten thousand miles on his tires and has never had any tire trouble on the road with the car in four years he has owned it. Likewise, in that time, the car has never left for a destination but what it has returned without trouble of any kind. Mr. Astor owns and has owned many different makes of foreign and American automobiles.

THE GASOLINE ECONOMY

of the Franklin car was thoroughly established when 94 different stock Six-Thirty cars under official observation made an average of 32.8 miles on one gallon of gasoline on May 1, 1914.

THE COMFORT

of the Franklin is well known and easy to understand because of the four full elliptic springs, wood sill, small unsprung weight, and great flexibility.

FRANKLIN TIRE ECONOMY

is a byword. 34x4 1/2 in. high efficiency tires (Goodrich Silvertown Cord or Goodyear Power Saver) carrying a weight of only 2750 lbs. is self explanatory.

GERMANY AND THE NEXT WAR

By General F. von Bernhardi

Popular Edition, 50c net

"This singular book is a very wholesome study for English readers, for in it they will be able to examine the German point of view with a vengeance. They will find almost everything they assume to be true about the relations of Britain and Germany turned upside down, and assumed by the author to be true in a precisely contrary sense. Instead of Germany challenging British power, Britain is planning attacks on Germany; instead of Germany stepping into Morocco, (where she had no very clear rights either from traditional interest or from her proportion of trade in the country) and unexpectedly hectoring France, Great Britain and France conduct a 'put-up job' in order to humiliate Germany. So it goes on: the coolness with which the author assumes his views to be true, without argument or evidence, takes one's breath away. General von Bernhardi asserts plainly and repeatedly that war with Britain and Germany is inevitable; and if the German government believe only half of what General von Bernhardi says, it is clearer than ever that it is waste of time to hope that Germany would agree to a reduction of armaments. Perhaps a large number of Germans think the author's opinions exaggerated, but it is nevertheless salutary to have the German point of view expressed in an extreme form. We at least know the worst. . . . It is an unforgettable assertion of the German principle that war is an instrument of policy."—The Spectator.

PRETTY CHURCH WEDDING TODAY

Helen Lucy Shannon Becomes Bride of Harold J. Ham.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at 9 o'clock this morning at the church of the Immaculate Conception uniting Miss Helen Lucy Shannon, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Shannon, and Harold J. Ham, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Ham. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. Edward J. Walsh, P. R., which preceded a nuptial high mass, the nuptial portion of which was rendered by a quartette composed of Miss Katherine O'Leary, soprano; Mrs. Margaret Heiman, alto; P. R. Kane, tenor; Joseph A. Laylin, bass.

The bride was the cynosure of all eyes as the wedding party entered the church to the strains of the wedding march from Lohengrin, played by organist W. P. Laylin. She wore a handsome gown of dullest satin cloth with Dutch point lace, corsage of gown caught with diamond brooch, veil of French tulle caught with lilies of the valley. She carried a bridal bouquet of lilies of the valley tied with white ribbon.

She was attended by Miss Sally Edna McWilliams who was crowned with coral pink satin with chivalry lace, chivalry lace and with wreath of rose buds. The best man was Paul R. McCarthy.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride, No. 11 New Castle avenue, and a wedding breakfast served, consisting of chicken, ham, cold tongue, lobster salad, rolls, olives, celery, assorted cake, ice cream and coffee.

The home was prettily decorated with evergreen, autumn leaves, cut flowers and ferns. A multitude of beautiful and costly presents testified to the esteem in which the young couple are held by their many friends and acquaintances in their native city.

In the exchange of gifts, the groom presented the bride with a gold bracelet, and the bride gave to the groom a pearl solitaire. The bridesmaid received a gold bracelet from the bride, and the groom gave the best man a scarf pin with opal setting.

Mr. and Mrs. Ham left on the afternoon express on their honeymoon, which will include a trip to Virginia and other interesting points in the South. On their return they will reside in a newly furnished home on Spring street. The bride's travelling gown was dark blue broadcloth, blue ermine de chine waist; hat of black silk velvet, with silk velvet roses.

The church services and reception was attended by a host of town guests from New York, Boston, Lynn, Haverhill, Lawrence and Newburyport.

George F. Shannon, Thomas Quinn, Dennis Long and Albert Fagan acted as ushers at the church and subsequently assisted in receiving the guests at the reception.
